Keeping Audiology connected across the UK

The BAA Regional Groups are a network of Audiology professionals representing specific regions within England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

This regional network organises meetings locally to give BAA members around the UK the opportunity to listen to speakers on relevant clinical topics tailored to the local services. Networking is a key element of the meetings. The opportunity to discuss clinical protocols and services with other local professionals gives you an insight into service innovations and developments on your doorstep.

There will often be a theme to a regional meeting. All our Regional Representatives have recently trained as Ida Person-Centred Care Champions and they will be sharing this ethos in their areas over the coming year.

What happens at a Regional Event?

Meetings typically host local speakers and share best practice amongst peers, often a representative may gain support from a supplier who will speak, demonstrate equipment or a test procedure. A BAA board member will also attend and present on the latest activity, strategy and focus of the Academy. This is also a great opportunity for members to ask questions and feedback to Board.

Regional meetings tend to operate on a low budget but there is no saving on the passion and energy of the Regional Representative and Board are tremendously proud and grateful to all the local Audiologists in the regional team.

Regional meetings are free-to-attend events and provided as part of your BAA membership.

“A chance to meet people, to network and to develop personal knowledge and skills. A forum for debate and an opportunity to give something back.”

“I’ve gained confidence and knowledge during my time as a Rep so far. I’ve been able to learn about and discuss topics that I wouldn’t usually come across in my own clinics.”
